

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

October 2009
Rob Carfagno

Rob Carfagno (above) with shovel

Involved could be his middle name, as Rob Carfagno has worn many volunteer hats, helped out on countless occasions, and most recently even joined the DRC's Board of Directors.

Rob Carfagno lives with his wife, Angelina, in the Oakleigh Beach neighborhood. Rob is a real estate agent with Keller Williams and in March had his office group come to Dundalk on their annual Red Day - a day Keller Williams staff members give back to the community in group service activities. Rob's team enthusiastically planted new shrubs and trees in Historic Dundalk.

Rob was also our lone volunteer who answered the call this summer to help our Renaissance Youth Corps to water the trees in the Dundalk Avenue streetscape. All in all, Rob has shown care and commitment to Dundalk's Renaissance and we want to thank him for his efforts. When asked what he likes most about volunteering for the DRC, Rob responded, "I enjoying volunteering for the DRC because of the major impact this great organization is having on cleaning up and revitalizing our community. I also cherish the new friendships I am making by being part of the team."

So come out and meet Rob and some of our other fantastic volunteers at any of our events going on this fall!